

Love, Loss and Chickens

•• The One Sheet

On September 16, 2022, Pomona College political science professor Pierre Englebert releases his fourth album under his one-man-band-alter-ego Not a Moment too Soon. Entitled Love, Loss and Chickens, it is a collection of nine songs performed with just piano or guitar, and sometimes other minimal instrumentation. The album offers a mix of tenderness and humor through stories of love and loss, delivered with poetry, wit and intelligence. The songs provide colorful details and vivid pictures, with emotions and characters brought out in powerful ways.

Praise for “Love, Loss and Chickens”

“Pierre’s fourth album, Love, Loss and Chickens is a great listen. His wry, yet thoughtful and sensitive lyrics are accompanied by lovely melodies—a testimonial to his ever-growing musicianship” (Ellen Harper, singer-songwriter, author of Always a Song and owner of Claremont Folk Music Center)

“The lyrics ... brim with humor, warmth, and good will ... catchy, inventive melodies propelled by natural, compelling harmonies. Phrases set out straightforwardly, only to extend in tasty ways, always carrying the words and the listener to slightly unexpected places... Pierre Englebert’s songs reward many repeated hearings. Check him out! (Thomas Flaherty, Professor of Music and College Composer, Pomona College)
